

Sun: Inventors t=155

This is the distribution of the sun signs for the 155 "hall of fame inventors." I obtain the dates from a web site honoring inventors (A site having nothing to do with astrology) located at <http://www.invent.org/book/index.html>. These inventors are over represented in Aquarius, though the distribution is not statistically significant. It might therefore be worth while to look at a large number of inventors, if there are others of a similar caliber as this "hall of fame" group.

It is worth noting that modern astrology does single-out Aquarius as being associated with inventors. See "The Rulership Book," By Rex Bills, Macoy Publishing, 1976, page 71.

Sun signs: Inventors Hall of Fame; count=265

Ray theory would predict ray 5 and probably ray 7. The ray 5 in the graph is interesting but not statistically significant. It may be worth collecting a large sample.
